MORE ABOUT HOMEOPATHY.

A NUMBER OF IMPORTANT QUESTIONS ARE ASSWERED.

faction of knowing that it died secundem artem.

Diphtheria is a disease not so positively diagnosed as scaled fever, and public records of it are not so reliable for comparative tests, but with allopathic and home-epathic doctors reporting about the same ratio of cases as in scarlet fever, the mortality under allopathic treatment was 35 per cent; under allopathic treatment was 35 per cent; under homeopathic, 24 per cent. Vellow fever cases and deaths were respected in New Orleans in 1838; 19 per cent of allopathic doctors' cases died; 8 per cent of those under homeopathic care.

Public records kept by disinterested parties at different times and places have been examined with like results; yet, in the face of all the evidence, allopathic doctors try to make out that homeopathic sample. If it is, what are they?

4. If these things are so, why are not all public medical institutions put in homeopathic charge?

WHEAT STRONG AND EXCITED

PARDRIDGE'S COVERING OF 5,000,000 BUSHELS CAUSED A 2c ADVANCE.

orn Was Also Distracted and Made an Advance of 1 5-8c-Oats Gained 3-4c and Provisions Were Steady and Made Slight Gains.

Chleago, April 20 .- Enormous covering by Pardridge and other shorts sent wheat up at a dizzy gait again to-day. The market gained about 2 cents per bushel since the close yester-day and on the curb after the close of the session there was a struggle for calls for Monday on May wheat at from 61%c to 63c. Corn had a somewhat similar experience with wheat and rose under it 1%c per bushel, and oats gained %c. Provisions ruled dull but firm and made moderate gains.

Wheat opened with surprising strength. The fact that Pardridge had covered between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 bushels of shorts yesterday did not prebushels of shorts yesterday did not prevent people in the country from sitting up to send night messages to buy wheat at the opening this morning. The pit appeared to be full of buying orders at the start, and instead of sellers of May at 58\$6758\$6, as at the close of yesterday's session, there were buyers at from 58\$1 ot 58\$6. Under such conditions of the local holdings an excited advance in the first half hour was unavoidable. The demand for July was the most urgent. It closed yesterday at 59\$6, and in less than twenty minutes it was bringing 60\$6, comparing that with 56\$6, which it sold at on Monday last, showing that the market is doing quite well. Pardridge & Leaming, whose principal customer is Ed Pardridge, bought freely of July. Rosenkranz, who stood out on his short wheat through yesterday's razzle, came in this morning, and some buying in of wheat on account of what they had bought of Pardridge was done by two or three houses with whom this speculator in question had been slow in putting up margins. The local speculative conditions were the chief factors in the market. The principal item is that practically all the available wheat east of the Rockies is in Chicago and the daily accruing evidence that it is needed both for export and home consumption. With domestic and foreign millers in open competition for it, the possibilities on that account alone are not a pleasant contemplation for the shorts. The week's exports were 3.65.000 bushels from both coasts, compared with 2.934,-600 bushels from vent people in the country from sitting that account alone are not a pleasant contemplation for the shorts. The week's exports were 3,165,090 bushels from both coasts, compared with 2,924,000 bushels on the week before. Primary market receipts for the day were 205,000 bushels, against 240,000 bushels a year ago. Country millers bought 20,000 bushels No. 2 red here at the May price. The shrewdest traders in the pit were wofully deceived in the course of the market after its first lively advance to 50% for May and 60% for July. In the last twenty minutes of the session the excitement was redoubled. May rose to 60% and July to 61%, and those were the prices at the close.

The corn market was also torn up by the distracted condition of the shorts. Captain Phillips was the most prominent local short and commenced early in the day to buy in short corn. St. Louis followed later, and with their competition, added to limited offerings, the market became very active and the price shot up excitedly and closed with May at 47% and July at 47%.

Outs developed considerable activity and a heavy business was transacted. Prices closed at the high point of the day. The advance was principally the result of a scare among shorts and buying was heavy by all. Wheat and corn showed such extreme strength they were very influential in marking out the course of oats, although the firmness was principally independent. May sold from 28% to 28% 28%, up to 29% and closed there. July started at 27% sold up to 28% and rested at that price.

Provisions were firm but comparatively steady. At the close May pork had gained 5c and ribs 2% Lard was practically unchanged. The hog receipts were 7,000 head. For next week 100,000 are expected. The strength came from the light hog receipts and the advance in grain.
